United States Constitution Day September 17, 2009

On September 17, 1787, thirty-nine men signed the U.S. Constitution and changed the course of history. The U.S. Government Documents Department of Dacus Library will celebrate National Constitution Day on Thursday September 17th with a Constitution Day exhibit featuring items from our collection and a Constitution Day Guess the Number Contest that is open to students, faculty and staff. The three participants who guess closest to the correct number of patriotic paperclips in the jar will win one of three prizes.
